

Listing volunteering opportunities on GoodCompany has eleven key benefits

1. It's free to post volunteering opportunities on GoodCompany.
2. It's easy with volunteer templates – they pre-fill the skills, requirements and qualifications needed for a volunteer role.
3. Volunteers are generous donors. Make it easy for them to donate to your charity in the same place that they apply for their volunteering role. The 2016 Australian Giving Report highlighted that 8 in 10 volunteers donate, and when they do, they give twice as much as regular donors. Volunteers donate on average $1017.11 a year compared to non-volunteers who donate an average of $536.69 a year.
4. List any costs associated with volunteering and access companies with budget to pay for their staff to volunteer with you.
5. Promote volunteering roles to individuals or teams – our corporate partners and site users fill all types of roles.
6. List roles exclusively for a company that you have a partnership with, or open your opportunities to all our corporate partners and volunteers.
7. Connect with companies that have KPIs around staff volunteering – they have teams and individuals waiting for roles to apply for.
8. Review applications 24/7, contact, shortlist, accept or deny applicants with ease on the platform.
9. Archive old roles so you can edit and relist down the track.
10. Promote volunteer opportunities more broadly with our social media tools.
11. Share the experiences of volunteers with our Stories functionality to inspire others to join you as well as donate and fundraise to support your mission.

GoodCompany connects volunteers and donors within the one platform, empowering you to convert volunteers into regular donors.
